Accademic Year -Spring

2018-2019

Welcome to TAU

ISRAEL

ACADEMICS ACADEMIC REQUIREMENTS

Credit & Course Load Students must participate each semester in courses that will grant a maximum of five courses. Attendance is mandatory in all of the courses. Missing lessons will be reflected in the final grade of the course. Up to three justified absence from classes will be accepted (for example: emergency matter, doctor's note). Such cases of absence should be notified to your lecturer immediately. Students are required to arrive on time for classes. Teachers are entitled to treat any single case of lateness and/or repeated lateness as an unjustified absence.

INSTRUCTIONS FOR REGISTRATION TO COURSES

1. The registration form must be handed as it will send to you with this email. Please follow the exact instruction how to select your courses.
2. Students are responsible for entering the correct information on the registration form (available at the end of this booklet): a. Personal information (Name, passport number, student number, etc) b. Correct name and course number.
3. Class Changes and finalizing schedule: Sunday, March 11th 2017.
4. If a student decides to drop the course/s, it is extremely important that the academic office be notified until the deadline. Failing to do so will result in "F" (fail) being recorded as the course grade.

REGULAR COURSES AT TAU

Students whose Hebrew is good enough and choose to take courses at the regular university program should check the courses available at the faculties websites, and then check with the Exchange Office, the possibility to register to specific courses.

GRADING SYSTEM

1. Universities have different policies about the acceptance of Pass/Fail grades. Students must consult with their home university advisors regarding the acceptance of Pass/Fail grades instead of letter/number grades (The Pass/Fail option is not open to SUNY, SYRACUSE, POMONA & PENN STATE students studying abroad). Once a Pass/Fail grade is entered into a student's record, it cannot be changed to a letter grade, and vice versa. A Pass grade indicates D or higher-level grade. In the event the student achieves A-/ A / or A+, that letter grade will appear on the transcript instead of (P) pass. INCOMPLETE COURSES Students who fail to complete any of the course requirements, (papers, exams etc.,) during the period of instruction, will have an (INC) Incomplete recorded on their transcript. It is the responsibility of the student to notify the international office of the reason for the incomplete and the estimated date of completion. If the professor agrees, a student may complete the course requirements after the semester; the incomplete grade (INC) will be changed accordingly. The time limit for satisfactory completion of course requirements will be set by the individual professor. In no case shall the time limit be later than March 1st, 2017. After this date an "F" (fail) will be automatically recorded.

2. The following is the grading system of Tel Aviv University International: A+ = 97-100% B- = 80-82% D = 63-66% A = 93-96% C+ = 77-79% D- = 60-62% A- = 90-92% C = 73-76% F = 59% and under B+ = 87-89% C- = 70-72% B = 83-86% D+ = 67-69% CODE OF HONOR AND ACADEMIC INTEGRITY Students are expected to abide strictly by the Tel Aviv University and Tel Aviv University International Code of Honor: Students in the program are expected to act with integrity and honesty and hold their fellow students to the same standard. As such the school and university administration will not under any circumstance tolerate cheating, plagiarism, fabrication, aiding and abetting dishonesty, falsification of records and official documents or any other act which could compromise a student's academic integrity. Plagiarism: Submitting material that in part or whole is not entirely your work without attributing those same portions to their correct source. 4 4 Cheating: Using unauthorized notes, study aids or information from another student, student's paper, or student's electronic equipment (including but not limited to: phones, computers, and blackberry's) on an examination; altering a graded work after it has been returned, then resubmitting the work; allowing another person to do your work and submitting that work under your name; or submitting identical or similar papers for credit in more than one course without getting prior permission from the course instructors. Fabrication: Presenting data in a piece of work that was not gathered in accordance with guidelines defining the appropriate methods of collecting or generating data and failing to include a substantially accurate account of the method by which the data was gathered or collected. Aiding and Abetting Dishonesty: Providing material or information to another person with knowledge that this material or information would be used improperly. Falsification of Records and Official Documents: Altering documents affecting academic records; forging signature of authorization or falsifying information on an official academic document, grade report, or any other document designed to ensure that a student meets or gains exemption from a program or university regulation. Should a student violate the Code of Honor, the administration will review their case. This may lead to termination from the program, and expulsion from Tel Aviv University. RIGHT TO APPEAL Students have the right to appeal the results of a written examination within two weeks from the day the papers are returned to the office. If there has been no appeal during that period, the grade is final. The appeal process will be communicated to you during orientation week. The last grade given will be the determining grade (even if the grade received after the appeal is lower than that given for the exam/paper). During the appeal period, students may not take their original papers/exams out of the office. They may look at their papers and make a copy if requested SPECIAL ACCOMMODATIONS In accordance to University guidelines, students with learning disabilities or special needs must bring official documentation from their home country / university (translated into English by notary) and should be in touch with their respective program coordinator regarding any specific needs they have, and in accordance to the University's customary tools on this topic. 5 5

Spring Semester 2019 - Study Abroad Courses

Please note that all courses, dates and times below are subject to change. Classroom locations will be added on this site closer to the courses start date. Study Abroad students will register for courses once they arrive to TAU; detailed information on the process will be given upon arrival. All students must also carefully read the Spring 2019 TAU International Academic Handbook prior to registering for courses. In this handbook, students will find detailed academic information which they are responsible for understanding regarding courses, TAU academic policies, course registration, important academic deadlines and dates, and more.

TAU does not permit, under any circumstances, taking final exams early. When selecting courses, it is thus very important to note below if there is an in-class final as this date/exam cannot be changed. Early departures from the program are not approved, nor are early or exception exams.

European Politics and Migration

3 Credits

Dr. Ina Kubbe

Monday 17:00-20:00

Naftali 106

More than a million migrants and refugees crossed into Europe since 2015. Yet, this was not the first wave of migration and Europe's governments and citizens are still looking for ways how to face and meet the challenges and opportunities involved. The main purpose of this course is to provide students with an overview of the politics of migration in contemporary Europe. From a comparative perspective, we will have a look at Europe's actors, the role of institutions, policies, policy-making, public opinion and certain issues and debates over migration in different countries. The course seeks to answer the following major questions: (1) what are the causes, effects and challenges of migration in European countries and (2) how do policy makers respond to these effects?

COLLER SCHOOL OF MANAGEMENT

MASTER'S

Each term at Collier School of Management runs 13 or 14 weeks and is divided into two modules. Exchange students can stay for two modules or come for one module only. Exchange students are expected to take 4-6 credits of courses per term. Most of the courses are one credit, a credit being equivalent to two academic hours once a week, for 14 weeks. For the concerted 7 week module, the time is four academic hours. One credit at Collier is equivalent to 4 ECTS.

Every single module course is 1 TAU credit and the full semester (module 1+2) courses are 2 TAU credits

Spring Semester

The Family in Macroeconomics

Prof. Matthias Doepke

1011.4550.01

Short Description:

The course covers current research at the intersection of macroeconomics and family economics. Many of the household decisions that are central to aggregate outcomes, such as labor supply, savings, and fertility, are made within families, yet most macro models abstract from the inner workings of the family and build on unitary, representative households. The course covers research that shows that taking account of the family can give new and improved answers for central macroeconomic questions. Specific topics covered are dynamic bargaining under commitment and information constraints in the family; bargaining over fertility decisions; and the link between parenting decisions and the evolution of macroeconomic inequality.

SPRING SEMESTER

Immigration and Minorities: Linguistic, Psychological and Educational Aspects*

Dr. Michal Tannenbaum (3 credit hours)

Mondays 2:15-4:45

Dan David 104

This course discusses linguistic, social, institutional, and psychological aspects of immigrants and other minorities in Israel and in other countries. The course deals with theoretical models related to immigration and language maintenance, emotional aspects involved in language maintenance, language shift and language loss, and institutional and educational approaches towards various minority groups in different contexts.

Language Policy: English in the Global World*

Prof. Elana Shohamy (3 credit hours)

Wednesdays 2:30-5:00

Dan David 104

In the course Language Policy: English in the Global World students will be exposed to the major issues surrounding the status and roles of English in the world today in terms of functionality, dominance, controversies, dilemmas, varieties and rights. We will examine different patterns of English language policies as exemplified, explicitly and implicitly, via different mechanisms, in a number of countries. We will study the specific case of the dominant role that English plays in Israel in education and the publicspace in relation to other local, national and trans-national languages. We will discuss the challenges of these policies to educational policies in relation to factors such as teaching methods contents and tests.

Technology and Language Learning *

Karen Eini (3 credit hours)

Mondays

Sharett 001

10:15-1:30 (plus 2 virtual hours)

Karen Eini

In this course we learn about digital technology in language learning. We will review various theoretical and practical topics dealing with computers and language education and critically assess the pedagogical value and usability of language learning software, online resources and applications available for ESL/EFL. Students will create and implement digital learning materials and are expected to actively participate both in class and online.

When it says online technology these are assignments that will be online (students don't come to a physical meeting).

INTERNATIONAL PROGRAM OF ENGINEERING

BACHELOR'S AND MASTER'S

Please make sure you gather all that is needed in one mail and send it

by January 1st 2019

Students should consider prerequisites for each course they chose.

Exchange / Study abroad at the EE Program

Students that are taking courses from the B.Sc. in Electrical and Electronics Engineering as part of an exchange route should track the following process & information.

International school of engineering Website:

<https://international.tau.ac.il/engineering/>

B.Sc. in Electrical and Electronics Engineering full curriculum: (to be updated for fall 2019 in March/April):

https://international.tau.ac.il/sites/english.register.tau.ac.il/files/media_server/TAU%20international/Bsc%20Electrical%20Engineering/2017/EE%20Course%20Curriculum%20and%20Syllabus%2019.06.17.pdf

Academic Calendar:

https://international.tau.ac.il/academic_calendar/%3Ftab%3D2?tab=2

Please note that STEM courses are listed properly and separately. Please read this thoroughly, while considering the start date of semester and end of exams period.

What is needed when submitting an application for external students: Please make sure you gather all that is needed in one mail and send it by January 1st 2019 to exchangetau@tauex.tau.ac.il

 With every request please make sure to state the requested semester & year, attach transcripts (updated ones) and filled form.

 What is needed when submitting an application form (please roll down for the form):

1. The student can send max of 2 forms.
2. Requested courses are maximum of 6 per form.
 - If a second request form is made- suggested courses should be added to requested courses section (assuming student is interested).
 - A suggested course is considered an approved course by us.
 - If a student was denied for a course, he/she can't request it anymore (for example in his second form).

3. Third section of the form should be filled in by the student only after he/she is approved for the program, and he/she chose the courses out of the approved ones from section B of the form.
no need to scan the document with a hand written signature, a written name is sufficient, as the document was sent from the student's personal email.
4. It is recommended that the student applies to courses within similar fields of study and semester (for example 2nd year student should apply to 1st year & 2nd year courses).
this is suggested since the dean will possibly approve an advanced course to a 3rd year / 4th year student and not prior, due to prerequisites.
this is also good for the student that might not be sure what the course prerequisites are. they can be found within the curriculum link.
5. Communication – student should communicate directly to the Exchange office up to the point he/she arrive the Uni. If you have questions, we welcome them from you, but it will cause too much disruption if students are in touch with both offices. It is best to leave the communication between you and the student until they arrive to campus.
6. Names and numbers to the EE program courses should be supplied to the student prior to filling in the form.
- 7.

*Labs are not an option for any student.

The Process:

- 1) Be in touch with your perspective office (Exchange) & fill out the STEM registration form, as per the needed steps.
- 2) Contact should be made directly with your perspective office and not with the EE program office.
- 3) Once courses are confirmed, please follow the steps with your perspective office to confirm your final registration to exchange or study abroad.

Upon arrival to campus, please follow the steps below:

1. Email the EE program office; Ronit & Jennifer, ronitperez@tauex.tau.ac.il / jenniferg@tauex.tau.ac.il and schedule to meet to review all information about the EE courses.
2. During the meeting, review course registration, student details, program calendar, etc..

Things to remember:

1. Changes to schedules are implemented into the EE Google Calendar, which will be provided to you during your meeting with the EE program office.
2. All students are allowed to take up to 2 exams: Moed A and Moed B. If a student is not present during one of the exams, the final grade will be calculated throughout the other exam. If a student decides to take both exams, it is important to remember that the final grade will be based on the second exam (Moed B).
Therefor: If a student passes first exam (Moed A) and fails the second (Moed B) then the final grade for the course will remain the later one (failure). No other chances exist to pass the course after.
3. Exam schedule can be changed at any moment and students will be made aware as early as possible via the student's personal info site and the EE Google calendar. Students should make all efforts to be here for both sets of exams, just in case.
4. It is forbidden to be in touch with the teaching staff during/ after the exams period, and ask for a change of grade or another chance. These are university laws which can result in a judiciary hearing within the faculty and also failing the course. Only option to update the grade will be via the system appealing process, right after exams grades & notebooks are uploaded.
5. If a student decides to leave the course for any reason, please email your perspective office along with the EE program office and include your full name, student ID number and request, so we can remove you from the course.
You can be removed from a course up to one week prior to midterms start (around 3 weeks into the semester). If a student leaves without notice, he will receive a no-show (260) which is equal to a failure as far as we are concerned.
6. Once a student is on campus, they cannot ask to change requested courses/be registered for a course they didn't originally sign up for and/or received its confirmation.

THE BUCHMANN FACULTY OF LAW

BACHELOR'S

Courses available for Exchange Students are indicated in this catalog. You may check the website in order to see details regarding these courses. Courses that appear on the website and do not appear in this catalog are not open for Exchange Students.

Courses Website – the website will be adequate in a little while.

We calculate TAU credits as follows:

- 1 credit equals 13 academic hours. Each academic hour is composed of 45 minutes. Accordingly, a one credit course will meet for 585 minutes.
- A two-credit course equals 26 academic hours, i.e. 1170 minutes.

Further, TAU Law's drop/add policy is quite strict and we would like to emphasize our policy:

- Semester-long courses: Add/drop during the first two weeks ONLY.
- Quarter-long & condensed courses: Add/drop must be done before the third lesson ONLY. (Class may meet twice/week, so the period is shorter).

Class attendance is mandatory. Students who miss more than three meetings of a semester course, or more than five sessions of an annual course, or attended less than 75% of the meetings in condensed courses, will not be eligible to take the final exam.

Workshops and Seminars: class attendance is mandatory.

We would like to emphasize that several courses have certain prerequisites. (see course description).

Please make sure that you have the prerequisites needed otherwise you might not be able to attend the class.

Generally, classes conducted in English do not overlap, but in the rare case of a conflict, it will not be possible to take classes with conflicting meeting times. Please note, in the course list, schedule column, that some courses are colored. It means that the courses with the same color overlap so you can only register to one of them.

You should be aware that most of the courses are intensive courses, running over a short period of time, and may contain two or three class meetings per week (Changing). This entails a heavy reading and work load during the duration of the course.

Please check « changing » courses schedule within the course description at the website (the website will be adequate in a little while)

SPRING SEMESTER

Seminar Business Law: Transnational Perspectives

Dr. Ido Baum - ICA

Credits: 3

Course number: 1493102001

Time: SPRING SEMESTER

Course Description:

Diversification is the first rule of good investment. It therefore follows that capital often seeks transnational investment opportunities. In this seminar we will discuss the implications of globalization on corporate law, corporate governance, securities regulation, competition (AKA antitrust) law and business formation. We will do so by considering how different norms influence cross-border business activity.

Students are expected to actively participate in the discussions and contribute insights from their own legal systems. While significant parts of the class discussions will inevitably focus on corporate law and tangent areas of law, students may write their seminar dissertation on a wider variety of business law topics.

Prerequisites: the seminar is available to students enrolled to the business law track. Other students with relevant academic or professional background may apply after consulting with the Dr. Baum.

Grade Components: 80% dissertation, 20% Class Participation and Presentation.

Workshop: Private Law Theory

Prof. Hanoch Dagan & Prof. Avihay Dorfman - TAU

Credits: 3

Course number: 1411746001

Time: SPRING SEMESTER

Course Description:

The Private Law Theory Workshop is a forum for ongoing scholarly research in private law and a Law Faculty course. The Workshop presents new scholarship on topics in and around private law, broadly conceived to include contract, torts, property, remedies, labor and employment, family, and private international law. Students who take the workshop for credit submit written comments on subset of the papers presented. Sessions include a brief presentation followed by an open discussion (q. & a.) with the participation of students and faculty. The discussions will proceed under the assumption that the presented paper has been read carefully by all the participants.

Grade Components: 80% Reaction Papers, 20% high quality participation.

Workshop: International Law

Prof. Aeyal Gross & Dr. Eliav Lieblich & Dr. Doreen Lustig - TAU

Credits: 3

Course number: 1411739601

Time: SPRING SEMESTER

Course Description:

Tel Aviv University International Law Workshop serves as a forum in which leading international law scholars, from Israel and abroad, present their works in progress and address past and contemporary challenges to international law. The workshop also provides TAU students (including LL.M. and Ph.D students) with the opportunity to read and comment on presented and classic texts. Students are assigned to write eight reaction papers and engage with the authors during the workshop's sessions.

Prerequisites: International Law

Grade Components: 10% Active Participation, 90% Reaction Papers

Workshop: Economic Analysis of Law

Prof. Avraham Tabbach & Dr. Shay N. Lavie - TAU

Credits: 3

Course number: 1411746201

Time: SPRING SEMESTER

Course Description:

This workshop will provide students the opportunity to engage with ongoing research in the economic analysis of law, written by leading worldwide scholars. At most of the meetings, invited speakers will present works in progress, and an in-class discussion will follow. Students are required to read, before sessions, the papers to be presented and to submit brief written comments on eight papers throughout the semester. Grades will be based on the written comments' quality as well as class presentations and participation. Enrollment is permitted to students who have completed their first year in law school; as topics change, students may take the workshop multiple times.

Prerequisites: Parallel (or previous) study of economics or management, economic analysis of law, or a law and economics course.

SPRING SEMESTER – THIRD QUARTER

Course: The Protection of International Investments

Prof. Alberto Aronovitz - The Swiss Institute of Comparative Law

Credits: 2

Course number: 1411549250

Time: THIRD QUARTER

Course Description:

Investors have always been exposed to the danger that the host-state would take unexpected unilateral measures in violation of their rights. Such measures may take the form of discriminatory regulation and/or tax increases, seizures and confiscations, (formal or hidden) expropriations or nationalizations. This course deals with the means available to investors for better protecting their rights, and provides an analysis of the existing international procedures for investor v. state dispute settlement. Special attention is devoted to the human rights dimension of investments, and to the recent developments in Israel in the field of gas and natural resources.

Course: Aggregate Litigation and Individual Justice

Prof. Lynn A. Baker - University of Texas at Austin

Credits: 2

Course number: 1411743150

Time: THIRD QUARTER

Course Description:

American courts and lawyers have been increasingly challenged by the special difficulties presented by the litigation of mass torts, such as those involving the BP oil spill, the drug Vioxx, asbestos, Agent Orange, and the 9/11 attacks. The multibillion dollar settlements of nationwide litigation involving thousands of plaintiffs have forced attorneys (for both the plaintiffs and defendants) and the courts to rethink notions of individual justice, and the zealous and ethical representation of clients. Some of the topics to be covered include: the variety of structures for resolving mass tort litigation, including the "quasi-class action"; the changing role of the court and the proper limits on judicial power; ethical issues confronting attorneys; and how best to compensate attorneys.

Course: International Trade Law

Prof. Raj Kumar Rakesh Bhala - Brenneisen Distinguished Professor, University of Kansas

Credits: 2

Course number: 1411743050

Time: THIRD QUARTER

Course Description:

International Trade Law examines the regulatory aspects of the sale of goods across national borders. Key concepts and topics include:

- (1) History and institutions of the GATT-WTO system;
- (2) WTO dispute settlement;
- (3) Regulation of import duties and non-tariff barriers;
- (4) Customs classification and valuation;
- (5) Remedies against unfair import competition (antidumping and countervailing duties against dumping and unfair subsidies, respectively);
- (6) Remedies against fair foreign competition (safeguard actions);
- (7) Trade in agriculture (including sanitary and phytosanitary issues);
- (8) Trade in services;

- (9) Protection of intellectual property rights against infringement;
- (10) Government regulation of export trade (trade sanctions and export controls);
- (11) Regional trade regimes (FTAs and customs unions) and preferences for poor countries (such as the GSP); and
- (12) Ideological and policy issues relating to trade liberalization and globalization.

Among the interdisciplinary topics emphasized are:

- (1) Trade relations with developing, least developed, and Muslim countries;
- (2) Critical link between trade and national security;
- (3) Complex interaction among trade, human rights, labour rights, and the environment; and
- (4) Efforts to protect local culture in an era of globalization.

Simply put, this course reflects the fact in the contemporary era of globalization, “trade” is a highly stimulating, provocative, and diverse field, with many practical opportunities around the world.

Course: Transitional Justice

Prof. Leora Bilsky - TAU

Credits: 2

Course number: 1411746901

Time: THIRD QUARTER

Course Description:

Transitional justice scholarship studies legal responses to collective violence, and asks how these responses affect collective memory and the state's liberalization. Unlike a military revolution that sustains its authority by brute force; democratic regimes are committed to the rule of law and are inclined to address the evils of the previous regime with the help of legal devices. However, the new regime's commitment to the rule of law also makes it aware of the dangers of using ex post facto laws and indulging in 'victor's justice.' At such times, the various expectations from the law—to punish the guilty, ascertain the truth about the old regime, and enhance reconciliation in society—seem to overwhelm the legal system and to push it in opposite directions. As a result, trials of transition bring to the foreground the clash between politics and justice. In this course we will focus on the two main approaches to the problem which have evolved since World War II: exemplary criminal trials (Nuremberg, Eichmann, and others) and truth commissions, and examine them from the perspective of the relationship between law and politics. We will consider the politics of domestic transitional measures as well as of international criminal trials and other transnational legal mechanisms used in political transitions.

Course: Private Equity Playbook

Prof. Franci J. Blassberg - Cornell University

Credits: 2

Course number: 1411743250

Time: THIRD QUARTER

Course Description:

This course will examine the private equity industry both from the perspective of investors in the asset class and the private equity managers who raise funds to effect acquisitions and investments. The course will highlight the differences between the venture capital and private equity marketplaces and the role each plays in the economy. Among the topics to be discussed are the evolving fundraising market and the investor community (including the increasing participation of Israeli investors), private equity acquisitions and investments, the financing of private equity transactions, exit transactions (such as IPOs, strategic and secondary sales), governance issues in private equity portfolio companies, regulatory issues facing private equity firms and the role of management and employees in private equity transactions. Although private equity is a global asset class, this course will focus primarily on the U.S. private equity industry and its relevance to the developing private equity market in Israel. The course is designed to provide students who are interested in corporate law and who may be interested in studying or working in the U.S. with background and knowledge regarding the U.S. law applicable to private equity activity as well as a comparative perspective. Guest speakers from the U.S. and Israel who are active participants in the private equity industry will offer insights into the state and evolution of the private equity industry and how it has impacted the broader asset management business and the merger and acquisition and capital markets environment.

Course: Welfare State: Philosophy, Politics and Law

Dr. Rachel Friedman

Credits: 2

Course number: 1411744501

Time: THIRD QUARTER

Course Description:

Over the past few decades, the welfare state has become the subject of considerable controversy. While many disputes concern the financial viability of welfare programs, it is the question of their rightful objectives and scope that has generated the most serious debate. This course will situate such debates in their historical and philosophical contexts, introducing students to the ideas that have shaped the welfare state since its inception. We will read classic works in distributive theory and analyze selected case studies in welfare policy and law. Participants will emerge with a deeper understanding of the aspirations and conflicts animating various welfare policies in Europe, the United States, and Israel. Grades for the course will be based mostly on an open-book, take-home exam. Regular attendance, active participation, and three short ungraded response papers are also required.

Course: European and Israeli antitrust law enforcement: the challenges ahead

Prof. Alberto Heimler - National Administration School

Credits: 2

Course number: 1411743350

Time: THIRD QUARTER

Course Description:

European competition law is probably the most advanced and developed in the world – particularly because of the institutional structure of competition agencies and the well-defined rules and procedures. The course will have a practical orientation and will deal with all areas of antitrust enforcement (restrictive agreements, abuse of dominance, mergers), comparing the EU/Israeli approach with that of the US. It will also discuss Issues of regulation of markets, especially through case studies, including the Israeli natural gas monopoly, and the new Israeli Food Law and Concentration law.

Prof. Craig Hoffman - Georgetown University & Prof. Shay Lavi - TAU

Credits: 2

Course number: 1411743550

Time: THIRD QUARTER

Course Description:

On the whole, lawyers (and especially judges) have a very slim understanding of language and the complexities of meaning creation. In this class, we will take a critical look at the ways that lawyers interpret legal texts. We will focus on the judicial legal opinion as a representative text. In legal opinions, the judges who produce these texts simultaneously analyze and rely on other legal texts. We will be discussing the intertextual aspects of legal discourse.

Course: International Intellectual Property Law

Dr. Amir Khoury - TAU

Credits: 2

Course number: 1411656901

Time: THIRD QUARTER

Course Description:

Unlike many fields in law, the national laws dealing with intellectual property protection are substantially affected by international agreements and conventions pertaining to the protection of IP rights. This course follows the development of these agreements namely how they were conceived and how they have evolved over time.

The course reflects on the changes that have occurred within the international IP régime namely with the advent of the World Trade Organization. It also considers the "trade-off" which leads countries to adopt that régime. The course also devotes attention to the "North-South" debate between Developed and Developing countries ("have"s & "have-not"s, respectively) and considers how this has been (and is being) resolved.

Course: Licensing of Intellectual Property

Adv. David Mirchin - Meitar Liquornik Geva Leshem Tal

Credits: 2

Course number: 1493101101

Time: THIRD QUARTER

Course Description:

The focus will be practical rather than theoretical, and the course will address real-world business and legal scenarios faced by technology companies.

The purpose of the course is to familiarize students with a wide range of licensing issues and ways to address divergent interests. We will cover in-depth licensing of software, content and inventions. We will review the purpose of various key terms in licensing agreements, the interests of each party, and a variety of fallback and alternative solutions which could serve your client and "make the deal happen." The course will address some specific legal issues related to licensing, such as the enforceability of clickwrap agreements, and website terms of use never agreed to by users, the impact of bankruptcy upon a license, and licensing of open source software.

Students will also learn about various forms of agreement related to intellectual property licenses, such as Software-as-a-Service (SaaS) agreements and software escrow agreements.

Prerequisites: This is an advanced licensing class for students who already have a solid foundation in intellectual property law and contract law

Course: Hegel's Legal Philosophy

Prof. Alan Brudner - University of Toronto

Credits: 2

Course number: 1411728850

Time: FOURTH QUARTER

Course Description:

In this course we read Parts I (Abstract Right), II (Morality), and III subsection 2B (The Administration of Justice) of G.W.F. Hegel's Philosophy of Right. We focus on Hegel's philosophy of property, contract, tort and crime, asking how it illuminates the common law regarding conflicts of title, the measure of contract damages, unconscionable bargains, corrective justice, the mental element of crime, and retributive justice. Evaluation will be based on a short essay (6-8 double-spaced pages) explaining a passage of text or applying Hegel's ideas to a problem in the law of property, contract, tort or crime. Suggested essay topics will be given out.

Prerequisites: Basic course in at least one of property, contracts, torts, or criminal law.

Course: Health and Human Rights

Dr. Melanie Levy - TAU

Credits: 2

Course number: 1411744401

Time: FOURTH QUARTER

Course Description:

This course provides an opportunity to explore ways in which human health is interrelated with human rights. Studying and assessing the basic components of governmental obligations related to health under international human rights law, it will identify ways in which a human rights approach can be used as an advocacy tool to improve the policies that shape the public's health. The course begins by examining the emergence of health and human rights as a distinct field. Following this, it will consider the meaning of the international right to health, stressing the differences between civil and political rights, on the one hand, and economic, social, and cultural rights, on the other. Although the course will focus broadly on health and human rights issues, special consideration will be given to the right to health as enshrined in the International Covenant on Economic, Social and Cultural Rights (ICESCR). Beyond the ICESCR, the course will also refer to other international instruments (e.g., Convention on the Elimination of all Forms of Discrimination against Women, Convention on the Rights of the Child) and regional instruments (e.g., European Convention on Human Rights), national constitutions and legislation, as well as regional and national cases. After exploring a series of foundational themes and issues (Part I - The field of health and human rights), the course will critically analyze the human rights dimensions of a variety of health challenges through in-depth case studies, such as the AIDS pandemic, neglected diseases, tobacco control, forced sterilization, access to abortion services, and force-feeding of hunger strikers (Part II - Applying the health and human rights framework to different health topics).

Course: Corporate Law Theory

Prof. Paul B. Miller - University of Notre Dame

Credits: 2

Course number: 1411743850

Time: FOURTH QUARTER

Course Description:

This course addresses foundational questions of corporate law theory from economic, philosophical, historical, and other perspectives. The thematic focus of the course varies from year to year, but amongst other things we may consider questions concerning the nature of the corporation; the historical and contemporary relationship between business, non-profit, governmental, and hybrid forms of corporation; the ways in which corporations implicate and impact fundamental categories of private law (especially property and contract); the ways in which corporations are situated within, and/or problematize, conventional accounts of the relationship between private and public law; and the roles respectively for law, corporate constituents, markets, and formal and informal social norms in shaping the structure, governance, and regulation of corporations. For this term, the course will address many of these issues but will do so primarily through questions concerning the nature of the corporation. More particularly, we will review leading theories of the corporation and will consider their relative merits in account for different kinds of corporation (i.e., business, non-profit, and government corporations) and in explaining and justifying core features of the corporate form (corporate personality, limited liability, and fiduciary administration).

Course: Law and Literature

Dr. Marco Wan - University of Hong Kong

Credits: 2

Course number: 1411744150

Time: FOURTH QUARTER

Course Description:

This course explores the complex interactions between literature and the law. Even though the two disciplines may seem distinct, both law and literature are products of language and have overlapped in significant and interesting ways in history. Why do legal themes recur in fiction, and what kinds of literary structures underpin legal argumentation? How do novelists and playwrights imagine the law, and how do lawyers and judges interpret literary works? Could literature have legal subtexts, and could legal documents be re-interpreted as literary texts? We will think through these questions by juxtaposing short stories, plays, court cases, and critical theory.

Course: Trade Secret Law & Information Governance

Prof. Steven Wilf - University of Connecticut

Credits: 2

Course number: 1411744250

Time: FOURTH QUARTER

Course Description:

This course examines the law of confidential information. It explores the ways that businesses deploy trade secret law to protect product information such as chemical formulae, business strategies, technological inventions prior to patents--or as an alternative to the patenting process, and compilations of information such as databases. Taking a comparative approach, the course will address this area of intellectual property law in the European Union, the United States, Canada and Australia, and the United Kingdom. Trade secret law will be understood broadly as information governance. The subject intersects with employment law, privacy, data regulation, commercial morality, duties of confidentiality and non-competes, and other areas of intellectual property law.

Course: Technology and the Law - Advanced Course

Mr. Steven Zipperstein - Blackberry LTD

Credits: 2

Course number: 1411744350

Time: FOURTH QUARTER

Course Description:

This course will focus on cutting-edge issues in technology and the law. The course is for students with existing familiarity with basic technology-related legal issues, such as regulation, intellectual property and privacy law. The coursework will build on that foundation and focus on the legal and public policy aspects of more advanced topics, such as autonomous vehicles, drones, artificial intelligence, virtual reality, cryptocurrency, block-chain and other financial tech platforms. We will examine the emerging legal and public policy responses to these advanced technologies in the United States, the European Union and elsewhere, as well as special problems arising in the areas of civil and criminal liability.

Prerequisites: Although not required, it would be helpful if students had some familiarity with privacy, telecommunications and/or intellectual property.
